

Science – Potions. This topic focuses on developing the children's understanding of potions and their properties, whether it's a poison, vapour or goo! This is a cross-curricular topics, so we will have the opportunity to develop a vast range of skills including art and history, as well as conducting our own experiments, including looking at the properties of calcium in bones and viscosity of different liquids.

